McADOO SLIDING CALLS ON BRYAN FOR CONFERENCE

Indiana Senator Reaches
New High Mark of 196 1/4
On Ninety-Third Ballot—
Ralston "Ride" Is First
Real Shape-Up of Long
Deadlock—McAdoo
Column Tottering With Smith Remaining Same.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. New York, July 8.—After ninety-three fruitless ballots, the Democratic convention adjourned this afternoon shortly after three o'clock until 8 o'clock tonight.

(By The Associated Press.)
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. New York, July 8.—The beginning of a slide to Ralston of Indiana, shook up the long deadlock today in the Democratic convention.

In succession the Indiana senator picked up the solid votes of Oklahoma, Missouri, Nevada and Kansas besides various smaller groups, raising his total to a point approaching that of the two leaders.

Meantime the McAdoo strength had been pounded to a new low level, and Smith was about holding his own.

There were many signs that despite desperate efforts by the McAdoo managers the McAdoo column was tottering and might fall in total collapse. How many of the McAdoo supporters might eventually go to Ralston, however, was problematical. Some of them were bringing out Cummings of Connecticut and other favorites.

The McAdoo floor leaders were hastily summoned in the meantime to a conference with their candidate and a conference with close advisers at the listening post quarters across the street from the convention hall. Some of his warmest supporters were urging Mr. McAdoo to formally withdraw and seek a compromise that would give him a seat in the selection of a compromise nominee.

After his name had been formally before the convention for 21 ballots, David F. Houston got his first vote on the 92nd roll call. Two were cast for him in Illinois.

After Mr. McAdoo had been in conference for an hour with his principal floor managers he sent a messenger to the convention hall to search for W. J. Bryan and take him to the conference room. Bryan had been a consistent McAdoo supporter but Senator Ralston was on the list of acceptables he laid before the convention last week and the Ralston men had been at work trying to win him over to the candidacy of the Indian.

(By The Associated Press.)
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. NEW YORK, July 8.—With the McAdoo strength hammered to a new low level and Smith about holding his own, the Democratic National convention today lifted Senator Ralston, of Indiana, to a new point of vantage in the balloting for a presidential nominee.

As the number of roll calls mounted into the nineties, Ralston rolled up a vote higher than any other candidate except the two leaders. To the strength he had developed at adjournment last night, was added the support of blocks of votes, including Missouri's 36 which had been going to Glass, and Nevada's 6 which for several preceding ballots had been cast for Ritchie of Maryland.

So far there had been no definite sign of a stampede but the evident breaking up of the situation started a new crop of rumors and there was an ever increasing activity on the convention floor on behalf of those who have been waiting hopefully for the hour of dissolution to come.

Dropping to its lowest point since the voting began a week ago, McAdoo got only 315 votes on the opening ballot today and his strength fluctuated about that figure on the succeeding roll calls. Some of the (Continued on Page Three.)

23 Leaders of Mutiny Clique Are Being Held

(By The Associated Press.)
MANILA, July 8.—Twenty-three alleged leaders of a secret clique formed among the Philippine scouts to advance demands for allowances and pay equal to those given white soldiers, were arrested at Fort McKinley today. Eight were arrested previously.

The twenty-three were held for investigation. These leaders are understood to have planned a demonstration for August 2, when they intended, military authorities say, to present a petition for increased pay and allowances to Governor General Leonard Wood and the commanding officers of the Philippine Department of the army.

Yellow Jackets Scattered Berry Hunters Quickly

The great all-absorbing question of today when will the deadlock be broken in the Democratic National convention now in session at Madison Square Garden New York fades into insignificance in comparison with the simple inquiry, will a yellow jacket sting? The other day Mrs. W. B. Pinnix and Mrs. G. W. Aron, of Danville and Miss Mary Courts, of Reidsville, N. C., while motoring on the Mountain road, stopped the car and went a short distance from the road for the purpose of gathering some blackberries. Everything went along perfectly lovely and the ladies were enjoying the blackberrying immensely, when a sudden flash, like a meteor, falling from a clear sky, something happened that caused the berry-seeking party to grief. Mrs. Pinnix, who was in the front seat, just like a meteor, falling from a clear sky, something happened that caused the berry-seeking party to grief. Danville Boys On Hike Over State

Bobbie Yeatts, one of the secretaries of the local Y. M. C. A., son of Dr. W. C. Yeatts, and Harold Motley, son of B. S. Motley, left Danville on the first of July for an extended hike through the state of Virginia. They are packing their camp equipment and will do their own cooking while on the trip. They will stop over at the Natural Bridge and the caves of Luray, after which they will go to Lynchburg, and probably to Washington, D. C. Then in the event their desire for hitting the trail is not appeased, they will tramp back to Danville by way of Norfolk and return from the boys to Oscar Hyer, indicated that everything was moving along lovely.

BLOOD POISON FATAL TO SON OF PRESIDENT

BRAZILIAN GOV'T. TAKING STEPS TO END REVOLT

Movement of Much Political Consequence—Favorable to Government

(By The Associated Press.)
RIO DE JANEIRO, July 6.—(Sunday)—By The A. P.—Delay By Censor—The Brazilian government is taking energetic measures to quell the military revolt in the city of Sao Paulo, and has officially advised the public that there is no danger of declaring that "the public order will be maintained."

President Bernardes secured legislation in congress yesterday decreasing a state of siege for sixty days in the states of Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro and the federal district with authority to extend the siege to other places if necessary.

In his message the president declared the government forces were equipped to crush the uprising and defend the solidarity of the constitution.

SITUATION FAVORABLE TO THE GOVERNMENT

(By The Associated Press.)
BUENOS AIRES, July 8.—News reaching here concerning the "insurrection" at Sao Paulo, Brazil, continues to be vague and conflicting due, partly to the position of censorship, but there is little doubt that the movement is of considerable political consequence.

Belated dispatches from the Brazilian capital tell of the measures taken by the government to put down the movement the extent of which is belittled. One such message, quoting an official announcement, says:

"The situation is favorable to the government. The situation is calm around the capital and the guard will act as pall bearers."

An uncorroborated report from a correspondent of La Nación says an army of Sao Paulo State troops with some federal soldiers, the whole totalling 13,000 men, is marching toward Rio Janeiro.

TALK OF SECOND CHOICES GOING ROUNDS TODAY AS DELEGATES GROPE IN LARK

(By David Lawrence)
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, N. Y., July 8.—Rudderless and without concerted action, the Democratic National Convention today drifted today in the hope that some "drive" of mental telepathy will make 232 hearts beat as one and make a nomination.

But the chances of a stampede election have grown remote.

Four score ballots have taken the emotion as well as the element of surprise out of the 1,008 delegates and the old-fashioned idea of starting a "drive" without pre-arranged agreement is proving futile.

The early balloting today, showed clearly that the delegates are groping in the dark and will not get anywhere until all the leaders sit down in a conference and after canvassing the situation reach an actual compromise agreement.

There is of course a good deal of talk about second choices. Some of the Smith men are feeling out the McAdoo delegates on the subject of John W. Davis of West Virginia. There seemed to be a tendency to throw votes to Senator Ralston, of Indiana whose drive started late yesterday and continued sluggishly today. It probably will not succeed as Ralston does not as yet captivate the imagination of the delegates. After Ralston has had his fling, the plan is to try out Senator Robinson of Arkansas, and possibly Senator Underwood, of Alabama. Most of the strength of Senator Carter Glass is in the McAdoo camp where just at present the disposition is not to start compromise drives but to stand pat.

The balloting however, is having a significant effect. The moral of the McAdoo forces is diminishing at the same time it is becoming apparent to go much higher than their present totals. They have some reserve strength and believe that when the McAdoo delegates are distributed, a large body of favorite sons, the only cohesive block left in the convention will be that of Governor Smith and that persistence alone will win out in the end.

Early balloting will probably force the selection of a compromise. Hitherto the McAdoo men have not been ready to confer on the subject, though the Smith leaders have been so inclined. If McAdoo should be unable to realize his earlier strength it is doubtful how better he will so much over 400 again, the end of the convention may then be expected. All that has really been deadlocking the meeting has been a conviction that some method—either the abrogation of the two-thirds rule or a last minute conversion of the favorite sons—the McAdoo forces would be victorious. There is evidence that the Smith people are beginning to realize the hopelessness of their case several days ago.

The determination of McAdoo at present is to stick refusing to enter a compromise conference or releasing his delegate to a vote upon require a coalition of all the favorite son delegations and the Smith people to bring about a nomination. Since the McAdoo strength slumped to a point well below one third, the nomination may or may now be said to be in the hands of the remaining card dates. Efforts to get them together are proceeding. Members of the Senate and House are active in the negotiations and something tangible may be worked out before midnight.

At the moment John W. Davis chances seem brighter than ever. William Jennings Bryan alone has voted the selection but his strength was in the McAdoo camp and if McAdoo were to lose a lot the tendency will be to desert Bryan. There is also a late bid in the Smith camp for Bryan and if Bryan alone stood between the Smith forces and a nomination he would be overruled.

It is doubtful whether Ralston can ultimately win the Smith vote for while he has repeatedly denied that he is in any way connected with the Ku Klux Klan, his opponents here have managed to tag him with that label.

Lad of Sixteen Loses Courageous Battle of Five Days For Life—Passed Away Last Night From Blood Poisoning Resulting From Blister on Foot

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 8.—The White House, scene of many of the nation's sorrows, again became a house of mourning today while the whole American people, it seemed, poured in their message of sympathy at the death of President Coolidge's 16-year-old boy, Calvin, Jr.

Not since Lincoln's time had such a youthful member of a President's family been called by death and never under more tragic circumstances. From the time young Calvin died at 10:30 o'clock last night at Walter Reed Army Hospital, all through the afternoon and afternoon there came messages to hearten the stricken parents in their first great sorrow, callers to leave a word of sympathy and tribute the plucky but always losing fight the boy had waged against death.

A flag at half mast on the White House and a white crepe token of mourning on the floor, told of the bereavement within. Around the casket in the east room sailors and marines stood guard. Floral tributes in great numbers were banked about.

President Coolidge bore up well with his grief and friends of the family said there had been no signs of a break down by Mrs. Coolidge.

Both were careworn after sleepless nights spent with their son, John Coolidge, with whom Calvin was playing tennis when he suffered the tiny injury which caused his death, remained with his mother.

Plans decided on today for the funeral contemplate a simply service at the White House tomorrow afternoon at 4 p. m. Another service will be held at Northampton, Mass., with burial at Plymouth, Vermont, the presidential birth place, on Thursday.

Lieut. Edgar Allen Poe, of the army, with six marines standing guard around the casket will accompany the funeral party and the guard will act as pall bearers.

President Coolidge went to the executive offices for a short time early today and was visited by many officials and others who wished to extend their sympathy.

A drizzling rain which fell through the morning blended with the gloom which preceded the White House ofices and grounds. Encouraged by the remarkable recovery made yesterday by young Calvin, his friends had again begun to hope that he had won his fight and was on the road to recovery. Today's sudden turn of events last night followed quickly by death came as a heavy shock.

Mrs. Stearns, wife of Frank W. Stearns of Boston, intimate friend of the family for many years, was with Mrs. Coolidge during the day while Mr. Stearns and E. T. Clark, personal secretary to the president, remained with Mr. Coolidge.

At the executive offices the pressure of public business was being lifted to the utmost possible from the shoulders of President Coolidge by his secretary, Bascom Slem and the staff.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 8.—Tentative plans for the funeral of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., were understood today to include a simple service at the White House at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the body then to be taken to Northampton, Mass., where the Coolidge home, where another service will be held, with burial Thursday at Plymouth, Vermont, where the president was born.

At the executive offices the pressure of public business was being lifted to the utmost possible from the shoulders of President Coolidge by his secretary, Bascom Slem and the staff.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 8.—Death once more cast its shadow today over the White House, claiming Calvin Coolidge, Jr., the 16 year old son of the president.

Calvin Coolidge died of five days that stood off the final claim of acute blood poisoning to the utmost ended last night. The younger son of the president died at the Walter Reed Hospital where he had lain in his desperate fight for life since he was removed there last Saturday in order that every resource of medical science might be employed.

The most possible strain of the acute blood poisoning that developed on his foot while playing tennis a week ago, the youth fought a futile battle throughout yesterday. Losing ground steadily, he yet amazed his physicians by the tenacity with which he clung to the slender thread of life and his fortitude under the suffering of the most excruciating nature of the excretory tract.

Forced in the last hours to abandon the desperate hope they had held for his recovery, based mainly on the courage and fighting spirit they knew he had, the president and Mrs. Coolidge faced the end at their son's bedside. They had kept his long vigil there, when he came for an occasional hurried return to the White House, and his Sunday.

Scandals of 1924

BY THE NEA PLAY JURY

NEW YORK, July 8.—"The Scandals of 1924," staged and produced by George White, will succeed in New York mainly because the audience that attends a high-priced musical revue here is vulgar in every sense of the word. It is composed largely of night-flyers, the kind who relish a dirty joke, people who have more money than brains and who think it is smart to sacrifice their finer natures and delicacy to be in the thick of the so-called white lights.

This juror has attended many shows of all kinds, but never has he heard an alleged joke as smutty, as dirty, as filthy, as hopelessly indecent as one he heard in the Scandals' third night performance. It is impossible to repeat it here because of postal regulations. This remarkable bit of wit provoked a gale of laughter, despite the fact that the "joke" was as old as the hills. It was one of those kind that some men tell each other when women aren't present.

But that isn't all. The show opens with a song by the Williams Sisters called "Just Missed the Opening Chorus." It is a clever device to fool some of the late comers, but in reality it is intended only to occupy such time as required to seat all.

Then the real opening chorus comes on, and the audience is in for its first shock. New York critics are used to seeing thinly-clad choruses in revues, but the first chorus in the Scandals outshooked any previous efforts. The girls wore white costumes, with the skirts slit from the hips. It was a bold attempt to appeal to the physical. Decent women in the audience hid their faces until they could get used to the spectacle. One couple left the theater, though the curtain had been up but a few minutes and the seats cost $4.50 each, excluding speculator's rake-off.

The Scandals would do well, if it takes the road, to revise the show somewhat or stay away from such cities where the morals of the community are on a higher level than those in New York. If the show as it opened here would play in some of the communities where it is closed, it would be a success. As it is, this juror predicts the New York police, if they ever get wise, will force the management to tone down some of the lines and put more clothes on the girls.

The sad thing about the Scandals is the undeniable fact that the cast must contain some girls whose natures revolt against the orders of George White. White knows his New York audience. And apparently he has no scruples against appealing to

The clinics are being conducted by Dr. E. C. Harper, Chief Examiner of the State Board of Health.

Dr. Garnett stated this morning that he is anxious for all persons who have reasons to fear they have tuberculosis in the first stages to report for examination, also those who already have been examined, in order that their case might be kept up with and developments watched. Any person is invited to attend the clinic, which is opened to both white and colored, and to persons also who do not reside in Danville.

Y. W. C. A. Tea Room.

To give the Danville public some idea of the keen appreciation traveling men, as well as many others are expressing in the fact that the Y. W. C. A. Tea Room is a distinct asset to Danville, the following letter may be of interest:

Dear Madam: Please permit me to compliment you on the splendid manner in which your meals are cooked and served and the moderate terms therefor.

One encounters frequently the term, "home cooking"—a misleading and much abused phrase, but never, outside my own home, during many years on the road, at home and abroad have I experienced anything to compare with your excellent table.

If I may, I would suggest that your establishment be named correctly—it is far more than a "tea room." Very sincerely yours,

CARL ANDREWS.

This letter is one of several sent these in charge of the tea room by out of town guests who were good enough to voice their appreciation in very definite terms. This is indeed gratifying to the tea room committee.

for it is the purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association to make this new venture a piece of real community service.

The summer menus, so carefully thought out, are meeting with the sincere approval of the patrons of the tea room. Especially is this true of the business women's luncheon which the committee is making as appetizing and as inexpensive as it is possible for them to, so that it might reach the many business women who are employed in the downtown section. Perhaps some do not realize that sandwiches, ices and iced drinks are just as inexpensive in the tea room as elsewhere, always remembering the homelike atmosphere and restfulness seldom found outside of a tea room.

Visitors From Martinsville.

Why the English drink so much Tea

Drink tea at 11 o'clock and you will be able to finish out the morning satisfactorily. Drink it in the afternoon and you will be able to end the day without fatigue.

This is because tea is abundant in vitamins—nature's re-vitalizers. Because of them, tea is a quick-acting stimulant. It quenches your thirst deliciously. And you feel better at once. It refreshes you, soothes your nerves, and furnishes new vigor. The English discovered all this. Small wonder they drink so much tea.

Drink tea in the morning, and again with your luncheon. Drink it in the afternoon and with your evening meal. You'll feel better all day if you do this. You'll be steadily cool and comfortable.

Critical housewives—women who are most fastidious about what they buy, and drink, and serve—look upon the Maxwell House brand as the best "tea insurance." They know it guarantees quality. Maxwell House means genuine goodness—thoroughly trustworthy at all times. No matter what your tea taste, Maxwell House will please you.

For sale at all the best grocery stores, in two-ounce, quarter-pound, half-pound and pound tins. Also in individual tea balls—250 and 500 to a carton.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT

NEW YORK, July 8.—If, as its leaders declare, the Democratic party is a party of "progress," the best proof it can offer the country would be the modernization of its national convention procedure.

The country has just been witnessing a spectacle of a great party bound hand and foot by the shackles of "tradition."

Day after day and night after night delegates to the Democratic convention, bound by an obsolete unit rule that should have been scrapped with the stage coach and the ox cart of a century ago, cast their votes for candidates whom they did not wish to nominate but whom they were compelled to support because of the bonfire passed on to them by a dead and gone generation.

Just as individuals themselves were blocked in an expression of their own preferences for a candidate, by the unit rule, so was the convention as a whole handicapped in its selection by the two-thirds rule.

The trouble with the two-thirds rule is not merely that it does not permit a majority to determine the party's choice. Much more serious is the fact that it permits a stubborn minority to block effectively the will of even a decisive majority.

The result of deadlocks thus developed is the thwarting of majority rule, which is presumed democracy should operate. The solution inevitably is a compromise. And compromise is neither fish, flesh nor fowl.

They are hush, satisfying the palate of neither majority nor minority, giving to the country a dish that is admirably second choice for everybody concerned.

The two-thirds rule, indisputably an undemocratic standard within the Democratic party, was fixed as part of policy back in 1832 under the maneuvering of Andrew Jackson.

Since "Old Hickory" is Democracy's outstanding hero, his pronouncement and it is nothing less than political heresy to challenge them.

Democrats have been free to champion amendments to the constitution. They maintain that our character of government must keep pace with changing conditions and their own progress. But inside the Democratic camp they still maintain, in the unit rule and the two-thirds rule, a domestic autocracy restrictive of real democratic freedom and progress.

Privately, party leaders express the hope that the situation which developed at New York, and which held the convention in a deadlock through days and nights of balloting, will, somehow, result in the abrogation of these archaic rules.

But individually none of them is ready to come out in the open with a proposal for the change.

Because these rules offer efficient refuge from which marauding minorities can direct their maneuvers, they have wayward friends. The effect of the two-thirds rule, particularly, in giving the solid south a veto on Democratic candidates and measures, makes it an even more touchy subject with which to deal than the Ku Klux Klan. This more than any other reason has kept the Democratic party a sectional party—the party of "Old Hickory."

MRS. IZETTA JEWELL BROWN of West Virginia, who served as announcer for the vote on several ballots at the New York convention, proved the value of a trained voice in politics.

Whereas other speakers, men as well as women, could be heard only with difficulty, Mrs. Brown's voice carried perfectly to every part of the big hall. As an actress before her marriage to former Congressman Brown, she had studied and practiced how to get her voice across.

CASE AGAINST KENDALL CONTINUED TO AUGUST

(By The Associated Press.)

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., July 7.—The case of Charles Kendall, under indictment for the murder of Dr. Robert L. Powell, was continued until August 19, by Judge A. D. Dabney, of Spotsylvania circuit court, here today, on account of the illness of two important witnesses, Mrs. Julian F. Kendall and Mrs. Roberta Taylor, the mother and sister of the accused. The motion for continuance was made by counsel for the defense, W. W. Butzner and Harry M. Smith, Jr. Physicians' affidavits, stating that the conditions of the witnesses made their attendance impossible were produced by the defense.

The motion was made by acting Commonwealth's Attorney O'Connor, Grick, that the defense inform the court in what respect the witnesses were material by executing the purport of their testimony. Although counsel for the defense objected they later agreed privately.

NO SECRET MARRIAGES

TIFFIN, O., July 7.—Secret marriages have meant the loss of a degree to one student and credits to two others at Heidelberg University. Under a college rule, marriage is forbidden to students under a penalty of dismissal. One of the students was dropped from the list of graduates when his secret wedding to a Tiffin school teacher was announced.

WORKERS GET NEW LEASE ON LIFE

By GEORGE BRITT (NEA Service Writer)

GARY, Ind., July 8.—These thousands of blackened, overworked men, swinging dinner buckets, who troop up Broadway from the "works" every day are a changed crowd.

The 12-hour day, Old Man of the Sea upon the back of the steel industry, has been eliminated with the apparent result of better workers, a better town and better business.

There's a snap in their step, animation in their talk, and smiles on their faces as they come from work. Those who ride the street cars, according to the conductors, are more trouble than they used to be—more boisterous, more argumentative, not such limp automatons.

They are better men to have about the house, say their wives and mothers. They pay more attention to the children and have reduced the truancy rate at school.

Bank Clearings Gain.

They are buying better merchandise, say the merchants. Working 12 hours a day, they would send their wives to the stores, even for their own shirts and suits. Now they go shopping with their wives and demand better goods.

Gary bank clearings for the first four months this year were $27,749,000. They were only $26,114,000 for the same period last year when the longer hours were in effect at the mills.

The steel mills basketball league had 12 teams this past winter as compared with 10 the year before, when the hours were longer. The public schools' vocational classes were crowded this winter with voluntary applicants, without any effort to get pupils.

With the sudden acquisition of hours of free time, the men remained sober and orderly. Arrests show no advance, says Chief of Police W. A. Firbis.

Corporation Profits, Too.

This increase in happiness and human wellbeing forced on the industry by American public opinion, costing 10 per cent. in steel production, according to Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation. Yet the corporation would appear to be bearing up under it.

The directors voted an extra 50 cents per share to the quarterly dividends on common stock in January and April, making it as Judge Gary said, "virtually a 7 per cent stock."

Net earnings for the first quarter of 1924, for the entire steel corporation, were reported as $50,075,445.

That is the largest in the history of the corporation except during the war and more than $15,000,000 greater than during the first quarter of 1923.

Twice since the 12-hour day was eliminated, in October and March, the Gary works have set world's records for volume of pig iron production.

Some workers bitterly dislike the shorter day of eight or ten hours. They are mostly husky young foreigners who can stand the gait who prefer to toll longer hours, draw more money and get back sooner to affluent pea-anthod overseas. Sometimes now they work two shifts in succession.

Low wages is the chief complaint. The scale went up some as the working day shortened. Common labor, the majority classification, gets 50 cents an hour instead of 40 cents. That means $4 for an 8-hour day instead of $4.80 for a 12-hour day.

ACADEMY OF CRIMINOLOGY ORGANIZED IN CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Organization of the Southern California Academy of Criminology is announced here by Chief of Police August Vollmer. The organization has been perfected by Chief Vollmer and Dr. E. C. Moore, president of the University of California, Southern Branch, after many weeks of preparation and discussion in which scientists, educators and police have collaborated with bootleggers, burglars and other more or less notorious members of the underworld.

The purpose of the academy is the "scientific compilation of the best opinion on the causes and conditions of crime and the best methods of crime prevention." The membership includes appellate court judges, university professors, country law enforcement officers, police officials. Only men and women of recognized ability in the field of criminology and sociology will be admitted into the organization, it was stated.

One of the methods to be utilized in gaining first-hand knowledge of crime and criminals will be a series of lectures by well-known and by leaders of such alleged anti-government organizations as the Industrial Workers of the World and the Communists.

WOLVERINES' SUPER TEACH OTHERS HOW TO WIN

ANN ARBOR, Mich., July 7.—Harry Kipke passed out of Michigan athletics a few days ago when the university awarded him a bachelor of arts degree. "Michigan's greatest athlete," many have called him, sometimes not forgetting to pay tribute to him as a man as well as athlete.

A night or two before graduation he was presented with a Michigan blanket with three blocks. "M" in one corner, "W" in another. "M" were three letters in football, three in basketball and three in baseball. No man in Michigan athletics has won this special combination of letters. Only two others have won the total of nine letters.

Kipke's actual passing from athletics had in it some of the dramatic qualities found in novels. In his final conference game against Wisconsin, in his final time at bat, with two on, he hit a home run. Then in his final game in a Michigan uniform, this time against the team of Methodist University, Japan, again he came to bat in the eighth inning.

Chatham

CHATHAM, Va., July 7.—Ray Robertson, age thirty, was killed near Whites Sunday by train number nineteen. He was walking on the tracks in same direction as the train was going and was three times signalled by the engineer who naturally thought the man would leave the track but did not and when the engine realized his danger it was too late to save the man who was thrown from the track by the impact and down a bank and when reached was dead. Robertson was a farmer by occupation and lived not very far from where he met his death. His father lives in Danville and was promptly notified of the accident. No reason has been given for the man refusing to leave the track as some one seeing his danger called to him and received a wave of Robertson's hat in response.

Winburn Cox died at his home near Greenbay church Saturday, following an illness of long duration and was laid to rest in the family cemetery on Sunday afternoon. He is survived by his wife and several children and the following brothers and sisters: W. H. Cooke, Beverly Cooke, and Richard Cooke, Mrs. Thomas Bennett and Mrs. Rennie Farmer, all of Pittsylvania county. Rev. Mr. Gull of the Methodist church, conducted the last sad rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Easley were on Sunday made the happy parents of a baby son, being the first boy of their union. Both are well and doing nicely.

Heavy rain Sunday night has put land out of plowing order and farmers will not be able to do much plowing before latter part of the week. Crops that are clean of grass are growing nicely.

FASHIONABLE LONDON MANSIONS TO BE MADE INTO APARTMENTS

LONDON, July 7.—The present house shortage and the many large empty houses in certain parts of London have at last moved owners of such dwellings to permit a conversion scheme on a large scale.

Many large mansions south of Hyde Park and in fashionable Mayfair, Eaton Square and Grosvenor Square will be changed into small apartments while retaining their present appearance. One of the chief reasons big houses are being given up in the shortage of servants.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined.

An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend," Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse. We had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Regulator Co., B-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

Chatham

CHATHAM, Va., July 7.—Ray Robertson, age thirty, was killed near Whites Sunday by train number nineteen. He was walking on the tracks in same direction as the train was going and was three times signalled by the engineer who naturally thought the man would leave the track but did not and when the engine realized his danger it was too late to save the man who was thrown from the track by the impact and down a bank and when reached was dead. Robertson was a farmer by occupation and lived not very far from where he met his death. His father lives in Danville and was promptly notified of the accident. No reason has been given for the man refusing to leave the track as some one seeing his danger called to him and received a wave of Robertson's hat in response.

Winburn Cox died at his home near Greenbay church Saturday, following an illness of long duration and was laid to rest in the family cemetery on Sunday afternoon. He is survived by his wife and several children and the following brothers and sisters: W. H. Cooke, Beverly Cooke, and Richard Cooke, Mrs. Thomas Bennett and Mrs. Rennie Farmer, all of Pittsylvania county. Rev. Mr. Gull of the Methodist church, conducted the last sad rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Easley were on Sunday made the happy parents of a baby son, being the first boy of their union. Both are well and doing nicely.

Heavy rain Sunday night has put land out of plowing order and farmers will not be able to do much plowing before latter part of the week. Crops that are clean of grass are growing nicely.

FASHIONABLE LONDON MANSIONS TO BE MADE INTO APARTMENTS

LONDON, July 7.—The present house shortage and the many large empty houses in certain parts of London have at last moved owners of such dwellings to permit a conversion scheme on a large scale.

Many large mansions south of Hyde Park and in fashionable Mayfair, Eaton Square and Grosvenor Square will be changed into small apartments while retaining their present appearance. One of the chief reasons big houses are being given up in the shortage of servants.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined.

An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend," Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse. We had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Regulator Co., B-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

SUMMER HINTS FOR YOUNG MOTHERS

The Child Who Won't Play

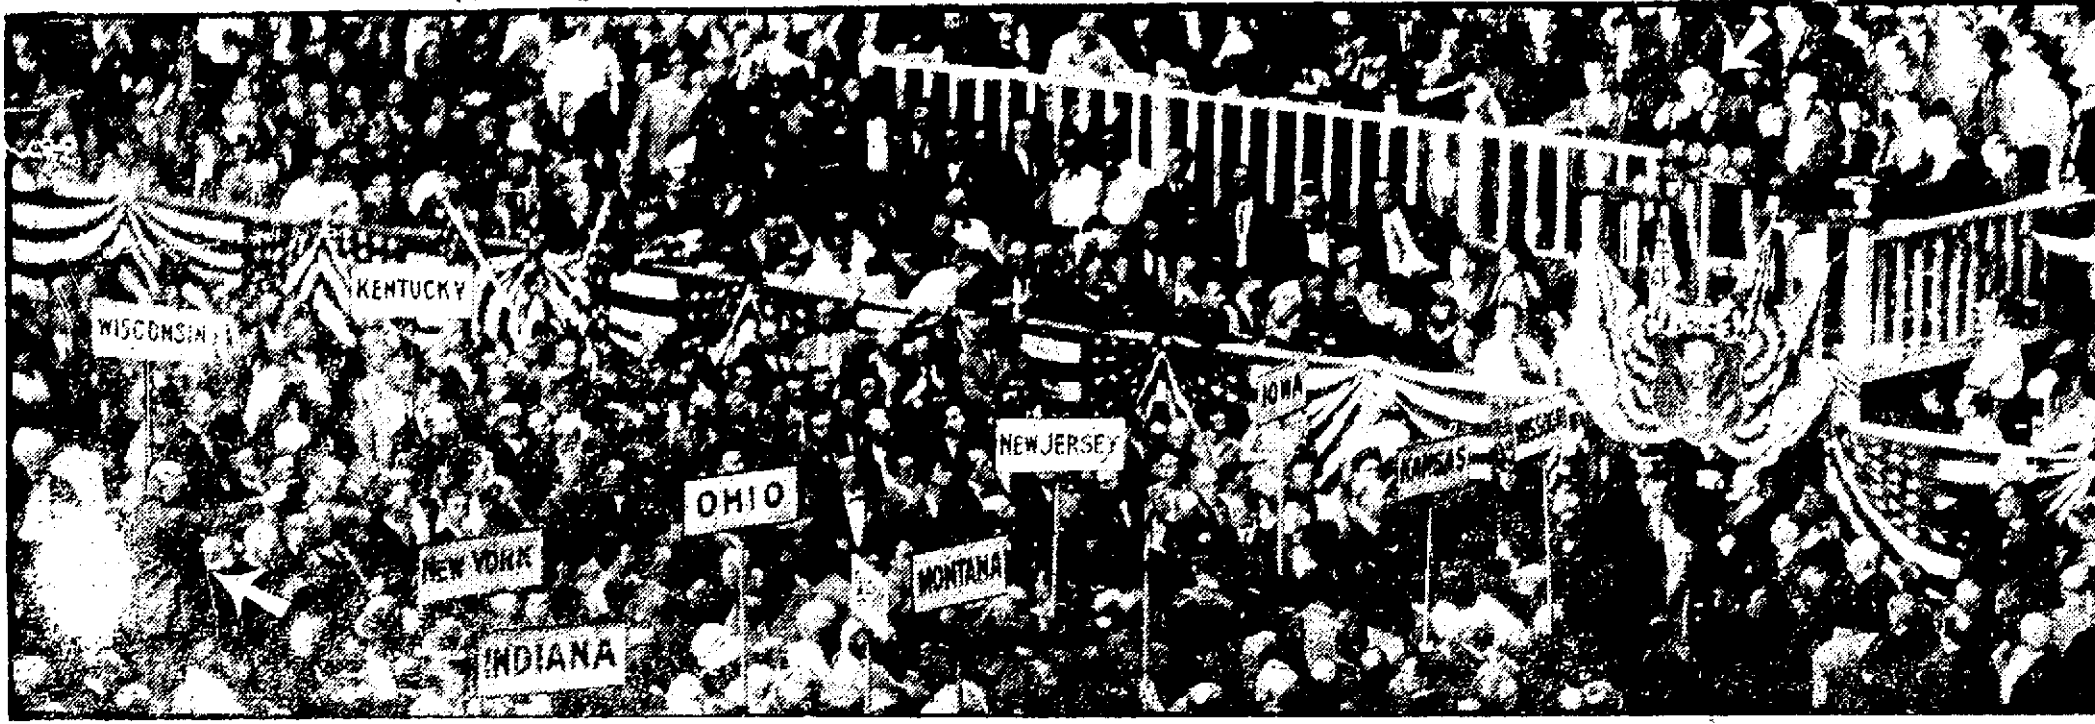

Healthy children love to romp in summer from early morn until the last call, and if a youngster mopes about the house and looks yellowish, you may know it isn't well.

Think over the little one's diet. It should be watched more carefully in summer. Too much heavy or raw food causes biliousness and indigestion. Usually a thorough cleansing with Liv-o-lax and a little better sense about the food will straighten out the child quickly. Liv-o-lax is a vegetable laxative that works on the liver, too.

The announcement was made after extensive tests, which showed that during hot afternoons radio signals are weak and disturbances are strong. Observations made on the strength of radio signals from high power European stations showed that the signals are weakest at the hour of sunset at the European stations.

The Sportsman

By WALTER CAMP

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)

NEW YORK, July 8.—"Little Miss Poker-Face" lost a championship in the finals at Wimbledon, but she won a greater victory than a mere championship. She conquered the hearts of the British by her calm, unflinching sportsmanship and her unlimited courage at all times and under all conditions.

Helen Wills is a modest earnest hard working tennis player, and it was no fault of hers that her friends on this side of the water picked her as journeying over to England to defeat every thing in sight. It had become a case of less majesty even to question her ultimate triumph. Hence the decided let down when in the International Wightman Cup contest she succumbed to two British opponents.

Miss Wills eventually will be one of the great players of the woman's tennis world. But it was cruel and unfair for her friends to boast so extensively about what she was going to do this trip.

Almost every British girl is ready to admit that Miss McKane was fortunate to win out, and that both she and her opponent were the only criticism of her passed by the critics over there was that she was a little slow footed and that in the crisis she played a shadyside coup.

The writer, who had watched her play in this country predicted some time ago and reiterated now that as soon as she built up greater muscular strength, not only will her slow footedness pass, but the tendency to overcaution will disappear.

Let her build herself up as Lenglen has built herself up and some day she will occupy the place of the marvelous Suzanne on the courts.

SEARCH FOR MISSING WIFE AND CHILD

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

FORT MONTGOMERY, N. Y., July 7.—Deputy Sheriff Ira Drew and a score of men vainly searched the wilderness back of Bear Mountain for Mrs. Elizabeth Montrose, who mysteriously disappeared early last night, with one of her five children.

Mrs. Montrose is the wife of Harry Montrose, assistant superintendent of the Forest Dam Mines near Bear Mountain where iron ore is extracted. The Montrose live on a desolate farm about three miles from Fort Montgomery. Mrs. Montrose taking one child to the house to go to Fort Montgomery late yesterday and strangely disappeared before reaching this town.

Shortly after Montrose notified the police and joined the searching party. The report was current that the authorities were working on the theory that Mrs. Montrose and her child had been made prisoners by foreigners employed in the mines. The sheriff and posse took with them the two searchhounds used unsuccessfully in the search for four year old Eleanor Montrose who was found yesterday after having been lost in the woods for four days.

This is the first of a series of six articles on methods of life saving about the water. The second will appear tomorrow.

By MARGARET PLUNKETT

Good swimmers—even expert swimmers—often lose their lives in disastrous attempts to save others from drowning because they themselves do not know the principles of "safety first."

Many persons, sinking in deep water have dragged others to their death because the would-be rescuers were unable to handle them.

Remember this primary rule: Never let a drowning person maintain a hold on you!

One who is sinking often will seize your wrist with both hands. If it is your left wrist that is being clutched, hold on. If usually will make him struggle even more.

Your free hand, then lift your left foot place it against the other's shoulder, and push with your right arm. If being held, push with your right foot.

The push will break the drowning person's grip and will turn his back to you. From a position behind him, an experienced swimmer can carry him along with ease.

Never attempt to knock a drowning person unconscious in order to render him easier to rescue. It is virtually impossible to do so.

Neither must you attempt to inflict pain to make him cease a hold on you. If usually will make him struggle even more.

For the Game's Sake

By LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)

NEW YORK, July 8.—American tennis players still have the Olympics tests in which they redeem themselves for their showing in the singles at Wimbledon.

Further opportunity for acclimatization, and development of familiarity with European conditions will probably result in improvement of the American men and women.

The chances are that Suzanne Lenglen will find herself in condition to play for her country in Paris and that Miss Wills and Miss McKane of England will have a change to diminish her prestige.

Those who are inclined to attribute saffron qualities to the great French player should bear in mind that the sporting atmosphere in France is totally different from that in the United States.

In France Suzanne rates as an artist. She is allowed all rights to temperament such as is regarded as logical, natural, justifiable in a great opera singer or poet or violinist.

When Lenglen is indisposed toward tennis why should she play any more than the operatic star who several hours before the curtain goes up on an opera in which she is to sing, withdraws because of a sore throat, nervous breakdown or something.

Miss Lenglen is a popular idol in France and popular idols in a Latin country have rights prerogatives and indulgences that Anglo-Saxons would find less ardent lands. She is not yellow, she is temperamental. And if both these qualities be regarded by Anglo-Saxons as synonymous, they are not by Anglo-Saxons. And that is that.

THE NUT CRACKER

BY JOE WILLIAMS

STRAIGHT DOPE BENNY ON THE RADIO

Only thing those triple-deck demonstrations demonstrated was that so-called human voice can take more punishment than old Porky Flynn.

Practice of wowing and yahooping a favorite song into the White House by a cellular may be polite and political but it's a lot of applause to the man in the rafters who wants to know what he's getting and if it's worth carrying home.

A wild, unshorn demonstration lasting 3 hours 48 minutes and 18 seconds is set down in the books as a record—and it is a record for assiduity, dumbness and thick-coated imbecility.

Just what connection a cheer leader has with reduced taxes, $150 worth, an enlarged aerial fleet and a return to the hit-and-run style of baseball isn't so clear to a guy who is down to his last two eyes.

In sports world the boys take their demonstrations in lighter vein. Ruth comes to bat. Wolves in the bleachers launch a demonstration "Strike out the big bum" they demand. Ruth sways apple out of yard. Wolves launch another demonstration. "Atta! Bab!" they shout. No matter what happens the baseball demonstration always ends satisfactorily.

Nor has the elevating and refining influences of collegiate atmosphere had any noticeable effect on sportive demonstrations. "Hold 'em, Harvard," plead 50,000 well-crammed throats in stadium. Yale immediately plows through for the eighteenth touchdown.

Do bell-trousered degenerates rave and rant, storm and stow, do they move to points of disorder and demand roll calls?

No, that is not the way the festive demonstration is demonstrated in athletics. The 50,000 throats call for nine rabs and a well lubricated locomotive, a tribute to the grit and courage of the slaughtered heroes and without friction.

The moral is plain enough. Never leave a white chignon dress where a coat can get at it.

CRIPPLED SCOTCH SOLDIERS MAKE FIRST CLASS TEXTILES

WASHINGTON, July 7.—A woolen mill operated solely by disabled soldiers and sailors has just been established in Edinburgh, Scotland, the commerce department has been advised by Consul W. L. Bonney at Edinburgh.

The experiment which resulted in the establishment of the mill, was started in 1918 and since then has proved beyond a doubt that limbless men are employable, and can take their place in the labor market. The factory produces coats, traveling rugs, scarfs, tweeds and other materials which are sold in competition with other mills.

Toothbrushes and handkerchiefs have figured among the tokens of valor presented by the Scotch soldiers to the troops under their command.

RALEIGH TAKES OPENER BY FINE BASE RUNNING, WILL PLAY AGAIN TODAY

Raleigh took the opener from Danville yesterday in eleven innings, 4 to 3. The word "took" is used deliberately and advisedly, for that is just how they won the game.

Another view of the contest is that the Danville infield became so absorbed in a run-out play between first and second that they let Charlie Allen slip in with the tying run in the eighth inning, after Matzen had just scored a home run. Again in the eleventh with Allen on third and Barrett on first, McMahon grounded to Myers, who threw to Staley forcing Barrett, and Staley threw to Resco with the idea of retreating McMahon and ending the tying run as already described, after Barrett had gotten on by a single in the ninth and tenth. Wilson turned the visitors away hitless Matzen opened the eleventh with a hard single to right, but was thrown out by McMahon when he tried to stretch the hit. Allen was again passed, purposely no doubt, and Barrett's single advanced him to third. At this juncture Wilson was relieved and McWhirter sent in McMahon to face the home team, grounded to short, and Myers properly forced Barrett at second, and Staley doubtless thinking he would be able to compete a double play threw to Resco while Allen was sprinting for the plate. Allen scored when McMahon called McMahon safe at first. In the light of the sequel, Staley should have thrown the ball to the plate instead of to first, but in the emergency he doubtless acted on his best judgment.

Ernest opened Danville's final inning with a single and McWhirter laid it down, advancing Ernest. Staley sent a fly to short center and Resco sent one to short which Stringfield handled for the final out.

It was a hard game to lose but warring and successful base-running by the visitors was the decisive factor. Danville on the other hand was too conservative or ultra-prudent on the paths in the second inning, allowing Cochlin and Ernest singled, cleanly and Wilson drove a long, long base hit to center, yet only one run scored. Again, in the third, Staley, Regan and Resco all singled when Regan permitted himself to be doubled at second on Cochlin's long fly to Barrett in the fourth singles by Cochlin (forced by Ernest), Wilson and Staley netting but one run.

In the fifth McMahon opened with a single, Resco bunted him to second. Myers was out, but Cochlin singled to left and McMahon was held at third by the coach at that corner. He was left stranded there, for Ernest sent a fly to left for the final out. After that Danville had not a real chance to score.

Both sides fielded faultlessly, as far as mechanical accuracy goes. Myers, playing short stop for Danville, had a remarkable fielding record, accepting a sacrifice throw on Resco's error while Staley at second handled twelve. The reversal of form shown by Resco, Raleigh's left-hander was rather remarkable, and his effectiveness after the first inning gave the visitors a chance to win the contest, too, a noteworthy not a man being given a base on balls.

Danville lost, but it was a game well worth seeing. The individual fielding feature was a great running catch by Cochlin, who dug in to the fly to center in the fourth inning.

The two teams will play again, and Acting Manager Kelly of the Capitals has a string of fine hurriers including Garrison who beat Danville in the last series here in late June.

TODDLER IS TO STAGE COMEBACK IN HARNESS

CLEVELAND, O., July 7.—Harnessed horse fans throughout the country are watching with unusual interest the progress of The Toddler, a 12-3-4 in the stable of Harry Stinson, noted Canuck trainer, who has been located at North Randall for many years.

A few seasons ago, The Toddler, a son of Kentucky Todd, was one of the sensations of the Grand Circuit.

In 1920 at Columbus he sprang a great surprise when he trotted the third heat of the $5000 Nel. He won a lot of good races in a six-horse race and Royal Mack in a six-horse race.

Near the close of the 1921 season Stinson announced that The Toddler would be shipped to Lexington, start in the Castillon Cup race and win or lose be retired.

It seemed as though Stinson intended to keep the word, but evidently he figured that the horse had a lot of good races left in him, so he put him into training again this spring.

Macks Beat Red Sox Twice; Dodgers Lose to Pirates

Grandstand Gaff

It was all but won. Everybody, especially the ladies, had begun to think that they were about to see Danville win a Monday Ladies Day game. But alas, 'twas too good to be true, for before anybody could hardly realize it, Danville had allowed the Caps to tie them and the visitors had won. Monday Ladies Day and an extra inning game. The former combination has always proved a flinx. And as for winning an extra inning game, as far as the ladies are concerned, it is not a game from such that it could not be won. 'Twas a good game though, both sides playing an excellent brand of ball.

Staley, Myers and Resco were so enthused in running down a man in the first and second that Old Bill Allen stole home from second base for the tying run, before Staley finally tagged out other runner. Bill Ernst was probably the only one of the time who realized that he was being tagged out. He stood on the plate anxiously waiting for the throw and trying to attract some attention. But Bill either lost his voice or a half gold for only a funny wheezing sound was heard and Allen trotted across. Bill flung his mask down in disgust.

SIDE LIGHTS ON CONVENTION

By ROBERT T. SMALL
(Copyright, 1934, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, July 8.—A Democratic National Convention running into its third week is a political novelty which few of the old timers at the convention expected to see. Democratic gatherings often have gone into the third week, but to lap over into the fourth week is a distinction reserved for the snail of 1924 at Madison Square Garden.

The unprecedented state of affairs, as the delegates found it Monday morning, has had a bewildering effect upon nearly every one connected with the convention.

It was perfectly apparent today as the sessions dragged on that no way out of the difficulty was in view because it was realized that William Gibbs McAdoo, if he was to pursue that course, can absolutely prevent any other candidate from winning the nomination. McAdoo's delegates are a loyal lot. They have proved far more earnest and steadfast than even the closest advisers of the McAdoo delegates have become. There is a hope that the long string of dark horses. But it proved a vain hope. Indeed, for the further fact that they have gone the more stubborn the McAdoo voters have become. There is a hope that the long string of dark horses. But it proved a vain hope. Indeed, for the further fact that they have gone the more stubborn the McAdoo voters have become.

There has been much talk that if the favorite sons or the trailing candidates would retire from the field, the issue could be resolved as between Mr. McAdoo and Governor Smith. But an analysis of the voting as it ended on Saturday failed to substantiate these suggestions.

To most observers it has been apparent from the first that neither Mr. McAdoo nor Governor Smith could win without the switch of votes from one camp to the other.

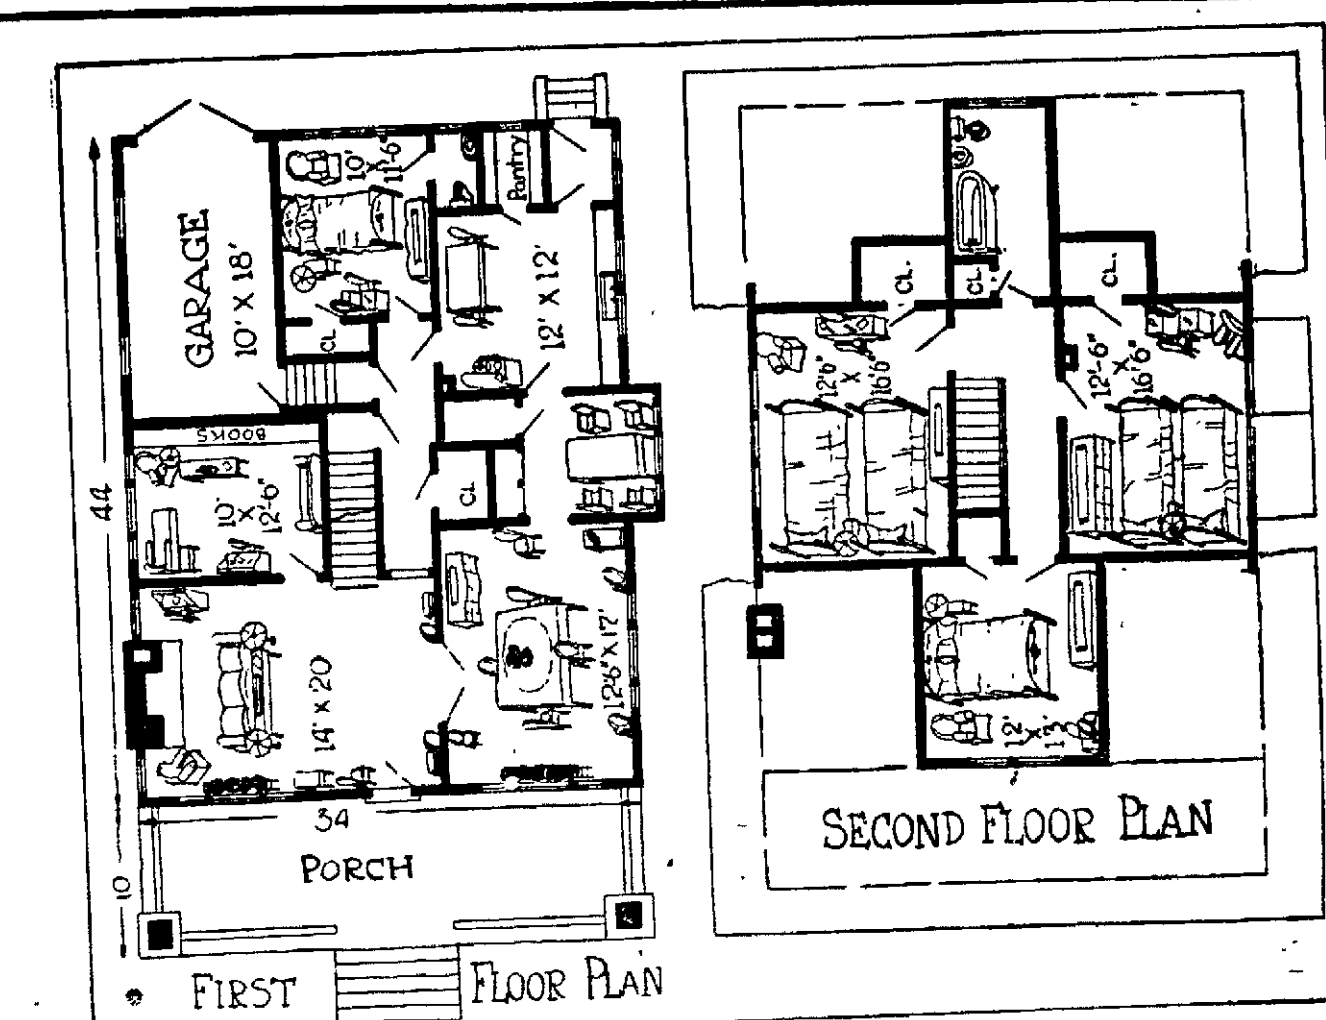

The suggestion that the convention be adjourned to some other city and at some future date, with a time for cooling off in between, was formally considered by the leaders today.

Some one has figured it out that the show should be taken on tour, down one night stands through the east and central west. It is realized that the transportation costs will be entirely too great to extend the tour all the way to the Pacific Coast.

Even if the tour idea is abandoned, something must be done in the way of arranging admission to the remaining sessions at Madison Square Garden, provided, of course, that anyone can be found who would be willing to take the stage of the game to get in. Something has got to be done for the relief of poor Tex Rickard who is losing $1,000 a day every day the show continues in his garden.

The women of the convention, who have been blamed for the deadlock by some of the men who have been seeking a compromise, say it is nothing unusual for them to stick by their convictions. They say women always have been and always will be more constant than men.

BEAUTY AND SPACE COMBINED

PROSPECTIVE HOME BUILDERS MAY study many plans before they will find one that has more beauty or distinction than the story-and-a-half house shown here.

The long slope of the roof, the wide porch, with its overhanging roof and artistically curved porch frame, the gabled dormer in the roof and the exposed roof rafters all combine to give the house an unusually attractive exterior.

Across the front of the house are the living and dining rooms, connected with a double opening. With the opening between the two rooms, there is an expanse of 32 feet 8 in., the width of the house.

Adjoining the living room at the back is a den, 10 by 12 feet 6 inches. Between the dining room and the kitchen is a breakfast room, with a Pullman nook.

Of the living room is a bedroom, suitable for a maid's room. Upstairs are two bedrooms, one at the front and one at the back. In one end of the house is a bathroom, 12 by 13 feet, and in the other a large bathroom.

The dimensions of the house are 34 by 44 feet. It is of frame construction set on a concrete foundation, with a basement of the same dimensions.

The cost of this house will be close to $12,000, dependent on the materials used, the elaborateness of the heating, lighting and plumbing and the labor conditions in the community where it is desired to build.

MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS ARE PREPARING FOR THEIR 3RD INTERSECTIONAL CLASHES

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 8.—On the eve of the third series of intersectional clashes in the two major circuits only six teams went through their paces yesterday. Brooklyn staged a preliminary opening at Pittsburgh of the Eastern Club's invasion of the West in the National but most of the contenders spent the day traveling to cities where they will begin the road trips today.

Jumping on Grimes for fifteen hits, including five doubles and a triple, the Pirates defeated the Robins 9 to 2 yesterday, the cosires promising recruit aligned back the slugging dodgers with nine well distributed bingles.

With an even more formidable display of hitting power than they showed Sunday, St. Louis again slaughtered the Cubs 15 to 3 and captured the series. In the fifth inning, Bottomly, Cardinal's first baseman, was knocked unconscious and lost two teeth when he crashed into the grandstand after catching a fly.

Philadelphia pulled Boston back to seventh place by winning both games of a double header by scores of 6 to 2 and 2 to 1. The only contest played in the American League, Quins' ineffective pitching coupled with his team mates' costly errors, accounted for the Athletics first victory and Perguson fared little better in the final. Which and Veach hit home runs. Detroit-Cleveland game was postponed on account of rain.

MORNING STOCK LETTER
(Thomson & McKinnon)
NEW YORK, July 8.—The next few years promise to be the most interesting in the financial history of America because of the development of plans that appear to be well under way now for the ultimate consolidation of railroads. The work has just been started and it has no doubt that there will be many surprises from time to time. Many roads that looked hopeless but a short time ago will come into prominence. Some have already reached that stage. Untold benefits will come to the stockholders as well as to the public.

I cannot imagine more favorable conditions than now prevail upon which to build prosperity. And I believe within next year or two we will see some new high records made in the volume of business and in values of securities.

Time to buy stocks before the boom is on.

Jams and Jellies Cost Less and Taste Better When Made by the New Certo Method

ed "The World's New Standard of Quality."

Besides, with CERTO hours of your time over a hot stove are eliminated and you never have a failure. And CERTO is a pure fruit product—no gelatin or preservative in it.

Just try one batch of fruit with CERTO and you'll never return to the old method of jam and jelly making with all its hard work, worry and extra cost. Get some plums and a bottle of CERTO with recipe book from your grocer and make some plum jam. No home ever has too much of

CRIME WAVE IN UNITED STATES INCREASES FAST

Major Offenses Throughout Country Have Increased About 25 Per Cent.

BY L. C. OWEN.
(Copyright, 1934, by The Bee)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The nationwide crime wave, which a half-dozen years ago, is rapidly approaching the proportions of a real tidal wave, if felony statistics of California may be taken as a general condition.

Major offenses against the law in this state, which according to comparisons of crime experts have averaged about the same in 33 other states during the last four years, have jumped almost 25 per cent. in the last 12 months. An actual count shows that there were 21,722 felonies committed in California during the fiscal year ending July 1, as compared with 18,167 for the previous fiscal year.

Two of the most dangerous elements in the mounting crime wave, which criminologists here assert, which soon become a general problem, are the rapidly multiplying number of banditry cases and the alarming increase of major law breaking among juveniles.

Within the year a total of 1,050 cases of banditry, most of them payroll, bank and similar holdups were recorded. Involved in these banditry cases were 364 persons under legal age limit. Boys, banditry and the number of juvenile participants show a forty per cent. increase over the previous year.

Other things the statistics show are: Automobile thefts doubled; arrests for the use, sale or possession of narcotics increased 78 per cent.; had cases passing jumped 20 per cent.; forgery increased 100 per cent.; arrests for obtaining money under false pretenses increased 200 per cent.; embezzlement gained 86 per cent.; first degree burglary charges increased 34 per cent.

Some justice is offered, however, in the fact that the number of murders decreased. 274 first degree murder charges being made as compared with 315 the year previous. Grand larceny also showed a 20 per cent. drop.

Also, despite isolated instances here and there of female banditry, felonies are not on the increase. Altogether there were only 17 cases against feminine law breakers.

Of the 274 murderers arrested, only one was a woman.

THE TWINS RELEASE
OUTFIELDER MOORE

WINSTON-SALEM, July 8.—Outfielder Moore, who has been with the Twins a few weeks, has been released. He is a good hitter, but he has bad legs, which prevents him from covering much ground.

It is learned that the manager is negotiating with three new players—two outfielders and a pitcher—with the hope of strengthening the Twins for the home stretch in the race for the 1934 batting title.

Manager Jackson fully realizes that the weakness of his club all the time has been in stick work—all of his outfielders being weak in batting. His pitching staff is generally regarded as good as any in the league.

Barefoot Youth May Rule Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 8.—Some call General Plutarco Elias Calles a "radical."

"And the general does not deny the charge."

"If fighting for equal opportunities for every citizen makes a man a radical, he says, 'I guess I am one.'"

The general is a Laborite. He is pledged to carry on the work of Obregon just the way Obregon wishes it carried on.

This includes the division of land among the Indians, the propagation of education, the enforcement of the child labor act, the eight-hour day and six-day week in every industry and the minimum wage laws for men and women.

Calles was born in the State of Sonora. He was, in truth, a barefoot boy. He did not own a pair of shoes until he was 16.

His 14-year son, an innocent teacher, once told him he would be governor of Sonora some day. And he was.

As a young man he taught school. Later he became superintendent of schools in the capital of Sonora.

But the old Diaz regime did not like progressive people. Calles soon found himself in conflict with the government. And he went back to teaching.

When the Matamoros revolution came, Calles like Obregon, joined it. When Obregon became a general, Calles became a colonel. Obregon, on entering the presidency, made Calles a general.

Soon afterward he was appointed secretary of war. Later he was named prime minister. He resigned that office when he announced his candidacy for the presidency.

He is married. There are four sons and five daughters in his family.

The REFEREE

BY ALBERT APPLE.

WEALTH

Nothing mysterious about making a lot of money, claims C. W. Barron, the Wall Street financial expert.

"It is not hard to make more money than any one else in the world because he renders more service than anybody else in the world. He has given the cheapest transportation known for seven million families. And he is now selling his cars near cost and making money out of parts sales."

Barron's idea is that money making is incidental to and the natural result of performing service. "There are many who perform the service and don't get the money. How does Barron explain Teller, inventor of cold storage, dying in poverty?"

JOHN D.

When the elder John D. Rockefeller went into business years ago, oil was used only for lamps and lubrication.

Rockefeller's organization is said to have found 250 different ways of making oil perform service to humanity.

As a matter of fact, the progress of humanity created the need for oil. It just happened to be there. Chance has more to do with success than the plucky adventurer. Good luck and bad luck exist as surely as day and night. Why deny it?

BACKTIRE

Most problems of economics add up to one thing: If given enough time, a solution will be found.

High sugar prices tempted Cuban planters to export sugar for 1924. The result? The whole world was short of sugar.

Overproduction is the worst enemy a business has. It is the worst enemy a business has. It is the worst enemy a business has.

Later

American government bonds to mature in 1924 amount to $1,000,000,000.

There has been a general rise in the price of many of the commodities which are the basis of our life.

Europe is that time should be taken of the world financially. It is a time when we should be careful.

There is nothing more uncertain than Europe's future. "America First" is a good slogan for the small American investor.

PEGASUS

The winged horse of mythology. Pegasus, no longer fires our imagination. A breeding horse has been shipped by airplane from Paris to Amsterdam.

Mythology represented the things the ancients considered humanly impossible.

Our generation accomplishes what once seemed impossible. A Greek god hurling thunderbolts has his counterpart in a modern scientist producing artificial lightning, a million volts, in a laboratory.

LOST

Hundreds of millions of dollars of slowly accumulated savings will vanish this year, consumed by bad investments.

The first rule of sound investment is to put your money in a business or industry you know something about.

It is human nature for a man to imagine there is more profit in almost any other industry than his own. That's the weakness preyed on by the fakers.

FOR RHUBARB

Add a pinch of soda to stewed rhubarb when nearly done and much less sugar will be required for sweetening.

FAN DRIES CLOTHES

Talking Honey

By G. L. FURGURSON

(Among the Danville citizens who are interested in the culture of bees, G. L. Furgurson of 140 Lee street, is meeting with success in this venture. He has ten colonies of Golden and Three Band Italian bees and has already taken 118 pounds of honey from one colony. Five of the colonies will average 80 pounds per colony; while the other five colonies are young bees, from which there will be no production this year. Mr. Furgurson has had much experience with bees and will give a number of interesting talks on the subject of bee culture. As there are a large number of people in the city who are interested in the subject, these talks should prove worth while to them. The first of these articles is given below. The others will follow daily for 24 issues.)

(No. 1)

There's a lot of work done in producing a pound of honey. In the form of nectar, as thin as water, the bees collect it from the flowers, drop by drop, and carry it in their honey sacks to the hive and deposit it in the honey comb, which they make from pure beeswax. (Beeswax itself they make from honey). Then they "ripen" it by fanning it with their wings until it has become thick, and much of the water evaporated. After it is fully ripened, they put an airtight capping over it made from pure wax.

It is estimated that it requires 40,000 trips of a honeybee to gather one pound of honey. As a worker bee wears itself out in about six weeks in heavy honey flow and then dies of "overwork," it is evident that it takes a great many bees a great many trips to gather a single pound of honey that you buy for a few cents.

On this part of the labor depends much of the quality of the honey you eat. I'll tell you more about it in my next talk.

MORNING COTTON LETTER.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Cables just as due. It was raining at Macon last night and the Carolinas, Georgia and Alabama had scattered showers, while it was mostly clear west with high temperatures.

Forecast east and central, showers, western belt, fair.

Worth street inactive. The disparity between July and October and the last government report has much to do with the hesitation of business.

Accumulation of crop advances from the south in the Journal of Commerce are favorable without exception but there were quite a few complaints of the floods from the eastern belt.

Majority of sentiment seems bearish and the trend looks lower unless rains continue west of the Mississippi river, favoring the weevil.

BOIL MILK CANS

Milk cans should be boiled occasionally in a strong solution of washing soda.

It's a measly shame to send those Coney Island beauties to jail just because they elect to wear abbreviated bathing suits. But that's what comes out of allowing henpecked husbands to monkey with the law.
